

Ahoy Wonderful Women!

Women On the Water #3

It's time to Go Sailing--Let's Go! On Saturday, July 31st we sail out of Chesapeake Boat Basin (CBB) on Indian Creek and sail down the Bay and up the Rappahannock to Yankee Point. This will be about a 5 to 6 hour sail on open waters, arriving at the docks at Yankee Point about 3:00 p.m. We will depart CBB about 9:30 am aboard Changing Channels and Ginseng. Bring your life jacket, bottled water, sunscreen and anything else you think you will need for a day on the water. Each boat will provide a light lunch along the way. There will be a nominal cost of $2.00 per person to help to cover food, supplies and slip fees.

How to get there? There will be a few cars at Yankee Point to transport ladies from that marina to CBB. They will leave at 8:30 am, so be there before then to catch a ride. Or you may drive directly to CBB and we will get you back to your car at the end of the day. (If we could find a few supportive husbands who would like be taxi up to CBB that would be great too!)

Sound like fun? Let me know NOW if you want to go so you will be ensured a place on board a boat. As usual, this event is open to all YPYC members, guests and any other interested women in the area who want to enjoy a day on the water. If you need directions, have any questions or need additional information, just email back or call me on my cell.

It's time to Go Sailing--Let's Go!

See you on the water. With warm regards,
